- Customers prefer paid alternatives for uploading music rather than a more manual drag and drop file sharing option

  → benefit of the manual upload is that there is a direct upload-to-viewing option provided for free where this functionality is mostly paid for in other alternatives.

  → another alternative explored was attaching folders to blocks with a plugin and then using another plugin to hide visibility of said blocks based on user role. However, this was a payed functionality that did not permit any display of a functioning prototype

  → another alternative that could have worked was to implement a post-type sharing of music, but an unidentified function in our page blocked new posts from being made with said plugin.

- Forget password functionality implementation

  → AWS blocks emails from being sent for the password reset

- Season-based sorting implemented in Music sheets

- Implement direct connection between music upload and archives
